Profile

Joshua Maxwell is a U.S. lawyer and Certified Public Accountant who brings together legal, tax, and cross-border business advisory experience to help clients navigate complex U.S. corporate, legal, and tax issues. As a Registered Foreign Lawyer (California, USA), he advises individuals, families, entrepreneurs, and businesses with U.S. connections on tax planning, compliance, and controversy matters, as well as advisory and investment structuring.

Joshua supports Hong Kong and Asia-based clients with U.S. federal and California tax matters, as well as related business and legal issues. His practice is especially relevant to U.S. expatriates, multinational businesses, and investors and families with U.S. ties who need practical advice delivered locally and efficiently.

Joshua's background in both public accounting and tax law gives him a strong technical foundation and a commercial, client-focused approach. He is well placed to assist with cross-border tax structuring, reporting obligations, IRS controversies, treaty issues, and other matters affecting clients with U.S. exposure.
